home loss and disturbance payments

introduction

A Home Loss Payment is designed to compensate people for the distress and inconvenience of having to move home at a time not of their choosing. A person who has an interest in the property, such as a tenant or an owner-occupier, may be entitled to a Home Loss Payment if they are permanently displaced from their home as a consequence of believe housing carrying out improvement or redevelopment of their home. Landlords are not entitled to Home Loss Payments as they do not live in the property as their home.

A Disturbance Payment is a payment made to compensate the occupier for the reasonable expenses in moving from their home.

We will make Home Loss and Disturbance Payments where the law requires us to do so. The following information is to inform you when you may be entitled to a home loss or disturbance payment. It is not intended (and should not be relied upon) as a statement of the law or our policy.

If you wish to know your legal rights then you should contact a solicitor, Citizens' Advice Bureau, a housing advice centre or a law centre.

Further details are provided below.

- You move from the home permanently in consequence of believe housing deciding to carry out improvement or redevelopment of the home/land.

The amount of Home Loss Payment you could receive is set by Government each year. From 1 October 2021 it has been set at £7,100 for tenants.

If you are jointly entitled with one or more other people to make a claim for a Home Loss Payment (for example, you have a Joint Tenancy) then the payment will be divided equally between the number of people who qualify.

- Not entitled to a Home Loss Payment, for example those who do not fulfil the one-year residency requirement.

eligibility

To qualify for a Disturbance Payment you must:

- be in lawful possession of the house/land you are displaced from

You are not entitled to a Disturbance Payment if you are a lodger or have a licence to occupy.

eligible costs

People who are eligible can claim reasonable costs of removal or relocation and these may include, for example:

- The reasonable cost of re-fitting or adapting carpets and curtains for the new house. If you think that these cannot be refitted or adapted and believe housing agrees then a replacement can be claimed.
- The reasonable charges incurred from moving your furniture and effects to your new house.
- The reasonable cost of moving the following items - cooker, washing machine, dish washer, telephone, TV aerial, satellite dish or other telecommunication equipment, alarms, re-direction of mail and school uniforms if appropriate.
- The administration costs incurred in change of address i.e. driving licence and passport
- Loss of wages where time off is unavoidable due to displacement and removal and wages are lost as a consequence.

In some cases we may reimburse for the cost of new appliances, for example if your existing cooker cannot be connected to your new energy supply, but this must be agreed with us beforehand.
